

Architectural Applications & Material Solutions

Selected International Case Studies

The following Case Studies present a curated selection of international applications developed with the MagFace® magnetic dry laying system across different architectural environments, material categories, and installation solutions.

Over the years, MagFace® has been adopted by leading manufacturers of ceramic surfaces, engineered wood, marble, natural stone, and innovative composite materials, enabling advanced dry installation solutions for both floor and wall applications.

The projects and references included herein are derived from confidential collaborations, public sources, industry publications, exhibitions, and market feedback.

In compliance with confidentiality agreements and commercial privacy obligations, the identity of final clients and certain project stakeholders may not be disclosed.
